Bernie Sanders Bernie SandersNYT editorial board remembers Ginsburg: She 'will forever have two legacies' Two GOP governors urge Republicans to hold off on Supreme Court nominee Sanders knocks McConnell: He's going against Ginsburg's 'dying wishes' MORE (I-Vt.) on Thursday accused President Trump and his administration of ignoring federal grants to states, saying they want to deny “free healthcare, education and transportation.” “By contrast, in Trump’s America, we’re told by federal officials that they want to deny people free healthcare, free education, transportation, child care,” Sanders said at a rally in New Hampshire. “They’re going to take food away from the mouth of children, because the Trump administration says we are going to put $80 billion of public money into the hands of wealthy and well-connected farmers.”

ADVERTISEMENT “That’s a radical idea in America. That is communism. That’s what the so-called Republicans passed when [Trump] first came in. And that’s what they’re proposing for the American people,” he said. Rep. Donna Edwards (D-Md.) later added that one of the “first acts” of Trump’s administration was to cut funding for subsidized housing in 24 states. “[Trump] is cutting funding for housing,” she said. “Housing means having a roof over our head, having health insurance, having a place to live.” “In other words, what is happening in this administration is that it’s the same old racist and xenophobic ideas that have been embedded in our laws and our history for the last 50, 60, 70 years,” she said. Sanders and Edwards were introducing a resolution that, if passed, would mean that all presidential and vice presidential debates between now and the 2020 election will take place in the state where the DNC is based.
